Along the Chicamauga

"Now, Mr. Conductor," said a snappishlooking old lady as she boarded the sleeping car at Chattanooga, "I want you to tell me the names of all the places of interest we pass on the way to Atlanta, for this, I believe, is the road along which Sherman marched."

"Yes'm," replied Mr. J. B Jackson, the conducter, as he cast his eyes at two pretty girls with the old lady.

"Jane," said the old lady to one of the girle, "you get a piece of paper now and take down the names the gentleman tells

"Yes, ma," replied the girl, with a smile that made the conductor's heart ache.
"What stream is that?" asked the old lady, as the train passed over a trestle. "That's Chicamauga Creek," replied the conductor. "Take that down, Jane."

A half mile further another stream was "What stream is that ?" again asked the

CROWNED QUEEN AFTER DEATH.-There is no more remarkable page in all history than the one which tells of the crowning of Inez de Castro's fieshless skull as Queen of Portugal. She had been married clandes tinely to young Don Pedro, and was murdered three years later by assassins instiga-ted by her father-in-law. When the young Don heard of her death he was beside him self with grief and rage. Two of the assastorture, which only ended by their hearts being torn out while they were yet alive. When Pedro came to the throne a few years inter he had the bones of Inez taken from the grave, placed upon a magnificent thrown, robed in royal purple, and actually crowned Queen of Portugal! The court was summoned and compelled to do her was summoned and compensed to do her homage, just as if she were a real living queen. One fleshless hand held the scepter and the other the robe of royalty. On the second night of this weird ceremony the fleshless queen was been before a grand superal content a read in ceremony the fieshless queen was borne before a grand funeral cortego extending several miles, each person holding a torch. Lying in her rich robes, her crown upon her grinning skull, in a chariot drawn by twenty coal black mules, Queen Inez, the only queen who never knew her royal station, was driven to the royal Abbey of Alcobses, where the bines were interred with as much pomp as though she had died bit yesterday. The monument erected to the queen who was never a queen during life is still to be seen in the abbey, standing near the one erected to her loyal husband, "Pedro the Just." It is said that the whole cause of this outragous proceeding was an attempt of Philip II of Spain to secure that the whole cause of this outrageous proceeding was an attempt of Philip II of Spain to secure the throne on the grounds that the marriage of Inez was illegal. Take Simmons Liver Regulator One Dose with satisfaction or appetite; had the blues and felt altogether out of sorts. I resort d to blue mass, calomel, quinine and all remedies suggested, but only obtained temporary relief. One dose of S. L. R. did me more good than the $100 worth of doctors and doctoring Respectfully, T. C. MARKLEY.

I have been a teacher for twenty years, and during that time have had repeated attacks of headache, produced by torpid liver, and I have been entirely cured by the use of Simmons' Liver Regulator. I found it to be of so mild a character in its action as not to interfere, in the least, with my duties in the school room. To those similarly situated and subject to same, I cannot too highly recommend Simmons' Liver Regulator. E. A. Cheek, Campbellsville, Ky.
